SUPPLEMENT TO
REPORT NO. 25X1X

1. A radar station is to be built near the lighthouse on Hel Peninsula and will probably give radar coverage of the Polish coastline between Gdansk and Kaliningrad. Work on the station has been begun, and equipment is being imported from the Soviet Union.
2. The captains of the ports of Gdynia and Gdansk have ordered all merchant ships to remain six sea miles distant from Hel Peninsula. The authorities explain that mines have been discovered in the area, and that this measure has been taken to prevent explosions. Local seamen discredit the explanation, and believe that authorities are attempting to conceal some type of secret activity on Hel Peninsula. Shipment of building materials to the area has been observed.

This document is hereby regraded to CONFIDENTIAL in accordance with the letter of 16 October 1978 from the Director of Central Intelligence to the Archivist of the United States.
